

Micky Axton Memorial

July 23, 2010

11:00am

White Chapel Cemetery

1806 N. Oliver - Wichita, Kansas

WASP
Victory Medal

In this 1991 photo, Micky Axton flies the restored B-29 known as "Fifi" from Garden City, Kan., to Wichita. During World War II, Axton was one of the first three Women Airforce Service Pilots to be trained as test pilot as well as a ferry pilot. In 1944, she became the first woman to pilot a B-29.

"If you have a dream... there are a lot of older people that will point you in the right direction" - - - Micky Axton

WOMEN AIRFORCE SERVICE PILOTS

Please join us as we honor Micky Axton, a trailblazer for the women of today.
Friday morning at 11:00am July 23, 2010, White Chapel Cemetery, 1806 N. Oliver, Wichita, KS.

Micky Axton will be buried with full military honors. Join the Micky Axton family and all the government dignitaries, representatives from all branches of military service, Civil Air Patrol, local JRROTC, Bob Dole VA Hospital, Gold Star Mothers, Legion Riders, Commemorative Air Force Jayhawk Wing, local chapter of the EAA, Boy Scouts of America, Girl Scouts of America, American Legion, VFW, AMVETS, WASP, local business leaders, citizens, other organizations and dignitaries. World War II and other aircraft flyover.

There will be a reception and reflection time for Micky Axton at the Jabara Airport, 3512 N. Webb Road, Wichita, KS. Local and national press will be reporting and interviewing persons of interest to honor the memory of Micky Axton. Directions and more information... www.mickyaxton.com

Micky Axton Memorial is sponsored by the Commemorative Air Force Jayhawk Wing
2560 S. Kessler - Wichita, KS 67217 - cafjayhawks@gmail.com - www.cafjayhawks.org